The Emerson Street Department YMCA was formerly dedicated on Sunday, July 5 1914 at 4:00 pm. as a separate and segregated department servicing the Evanston African American community. During its lifespan, the branch embodied culture, pride, commitment and community involvement within its doors. During its existence, the activities there had an affect on every boys formative years, within the local African American community, and changed as cultural and racial movements evolved in the United States history. Since its closing in 1969, the Emerson Street YMCA is slowly deteriorating in the memories of its seniors. Its impact already lost in todays younger generations. People who didnt know, didnt care. If people knew and are not reminded, they also might not care until now. This photo-essay preserves the memory of this historic institution since razed from its orriginal location at 1014-16 Emerson Street in Evanston Illinois.
